

Teachers

Interested in getting a Growing Chefs! team into your classroom?

Growing Chefs! teams can be paired with primary classes in the London area. This program complements the Grade 1-3 science and health curriculum.

How It Works

The Growing Chefs! In-Class Gardening Program begins every March.

A team of chefs and community volunteers visit your class every three weeks over the course of three and a half months, for a total of four visits.

The Program

As the chefs mentor your students and help them to grow their own indoor vegetable gardens, they lead the class through a series of lessons.

Each lesson uses a combination of discussions, games, and activities to cover themes as diverse as urban agriculture, vegetable exploration, nutrition, garden crafts, and foods around the world.
